For the contributions for all of this work, I kind of did all of it. I don't really have a lot to analyze since the work was mine. What I used that wasn't mine was just the slideshow background image of a stock, as well as the figure of a dude in the slideshow. One thing to note was that I was wondering if I should have done all of the code in one file rather than multiple. I did them in multiple files for each section of a question. I also added the analyze in a separate file that I have linked since I didn't think it was appropriate to put it in my code. I however did add the steps and clarify what I did in my code.
